

About Sheila Ealey - Featured in the film “Vaxxed”

Sheila Ealey is the mother of twins – a boy and a girl. Both children were healthy and vivacious until their pediatric nurse accidentally injected the boy, Temple, with his sibling’s MMR vaccine on top of his MMR, DTaP and the HIB. When she realized this, she left without giving any shots to Lucinda. Temple cried all that night, and the next day he was “no longer responsive.” According to an interview with Age of Autism, “he started crawling, he started banging his head against the wall, the floor, anything he could. He stopped imitating with his father, he was making no eye contact, and he didn’t want you to touch him or hold him.” Lucinda, who did not receive any vaccines, is now in the 11th grade, a scholar fluent in three languages and a classical pianist.
