

ABOUT DR. BROER:

Ted Broer is one of Americas leading nutritionists and biochemists who was trained at Florida State University with earned bachelor degrees in Biological Science and chemistry and second bachelor degree in Psychology and Exercise Physiology along with an MBA. He was also awarded a doctorate from South Eastern University. Dr Broer was a college professor in Tallahassee for two years. He has also completed extensive graduate and postgraduate studies in the field of Naturopathic Medicine. He is the author of many books and self help programs and study courses. He has written hundreds of articles on a range of different topics. A sought after seminar speaker, Dr. Broer has spoken to over 1 million people at live events. He has been featured on many National and international radio and television broadcasts. Book an interview with Dr. Ted Today and see if your phones don't ring off the hooks!

Website: <https://healthmasters.com>